It is believed that Ireland is home to more four-leaf clovers than any other place, hence the phrase "the luck of the Irish."

Did you know? The average amount American St. Patrick's Day revelers will spend this holiday is $36.52 per person, totaling a combined $4.6 billion, according to a report by the National Retail Federation.

Do you think there is a certain way a "lucky horseshoe" should face? This is a subject of much debate, the majority believe that the open end of the horseshoe should be facing upwards. This is to ensure the luck doesn't all spill out. But on the other hand, some believe the open end should face downward in order to spew forth the luck on anyone that passes beneath it.
